

Do you buy ungodly amounts of clothing, accessories, or shoes that you have never worn before and they are just sitting at the bottom of your closet collecting dust?

Donations and Discounts

Do these include Timberland boots or shoes?

Look at that pile and think what you can do with it. Think. Who can benefit from this clothing that has never been worn before?

Timberland can help you clear out that closet. Timberland is not just a store that wants your money. They want to encourage you to reduce, reuse, and recycle by offering an incentive.

Here's what can be done. Pack those unwanted items

Help a community in need

Timberland recently partnered with Community Recycling in hopes to raise awareness about the positive effect recycling clothing has on the environment in comparison to recycling plastic and glass combined. Anything from clothes to shoes

Save while giving back

Feel great and get rewarded from recycling your used clothing and shoes. Once your box is processed at one of the Community Recycling facilities, your recyclables will then be shipped within the United States or to a different country to people that need it the most.

Let people develop your style into something of their own. As a reward for sending in your products, you will receive 10% off your future purchase at Timberland. By purchasing products from a company that exceeds exceptional craftsmanship and
